TRANSMISSION PROJECT

BENSON COMMUNITY MEETING

The Southline Transmission Project is a proposed 355-mile electric transmission line that will include both the development of new lines and improvements to existing lines in southern New Mexico and southern Arizona.

The project sponsor is hosting a public meeting in Benson on Thursday, November 10, to gather public input prior to the formal Federal environmental review process that will begin later this fall. Once the official Federal process begins, the Bureau of Land Management and the Western Area Power Administration will host scoping meetings as part of National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) review.

We hope you can meet with us to:

- Learn about the proposed project and its purpose and schedule
- Review potential route alternatives
- Share information about your interests, as well as land and resource issues
- Learn about the upcoming environmental review processes
- Learn about current and future public engagement opportunities
- Learn about technical aspects of transmission
